Four dacoits nabbed

- Rs.8 lakh cash, two gold bracelets, TV recovered
- Greed to make fast buck lands them in jail
- Cops launch hunt to nab three more accused

Mysuru, Oct.30 (RK&SR)- City's Vijayanagar Police have arrested four persons in Bengaluru on charges of committing dacoity in Mysuru. The Cops have also recovered Rs.8 lakh cash, two gold bracelets and a TV besides seizing the car purchased from the stolen money.

The accused have been identified as 28-year-old Sridhar of Mirle village in K.R. Nagar taluk of Mysuru, 24-year-old Prasad of Electronic City in Bengaluru, 20-year-old Bharathkumar of Amruthavalli in Bengaluru and 24-year-old Natesh of Koorgalli in Mysuru.

Following a complaint filed by one Arunkumar of city, the Police arrested the four accused in Bengaluru yesterday and produced them before a Court which has remanded them to judicial custody.

The Police have launched a hunt to nab three more accused — Madhu, Ravi and Vijay of Bengaluru, who are absconding.

The four accused arrested by the Vijayanagar Police, Mysuru.

Sources in the Police Department told Star of Mysore that this gang of seven members had allegedly attacked complainant Arunkumar on Sept.22 night at about 10 pm on Kalidasa Road, near District Kannada Sahitya Parishat Bhavan in Vijayanagar and had decamped with Rs.19 lakh cash and foreign currencies worth Rs. 6 lakh, which he had kept in the dickey of his scooter.

Arunkumar, a resident of Vijayanagar First Stage in city, is running a foreign currency exchange centre at Shivarampet here and the dacoity took place when he was heading towards his house after closing his centre for the day. A case was registered at Vijayanagar Police Station in this regard.

Prasad, one of the accused, who knew the business transactions of Arunkumar and the route he takes to go home, had hatched a conspiracy along with his friends at Bengaluru, sources said.

After quitting a job in a private bank in Mysuru, Prasad had moved to Bengaluru in search of a job a few months back and during his stay there, he planned the dacoity along with his friends in order to become rich overnight and lead a lavish lifestyle.

No flyover inside Bandipur: CM tweets

Night traffic ban will continue; Environmentalists need not worry, says H.D. Kumaraswamy

Bengaluru, Oct.30- Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy (HDK) has reiterated his Government's stand regarding the elevated corridor passing via Bandipur National Park and clearly stated that the State Government has not given any approval for the proposed flyover.

Kumaraswamy

He was reacting to the mega protest by the environmentalists and the citizens near Maddur Gate on Saturday and said that the State Government had not given any permission for the elevated corridor on the National Highway at Bandipur National Park. "We have already opposed it and sent our opinion to the Central Government," he said.

Kumaraswamy also tweeted as follows on Oct.28: "Our environmentalists & pro-nature activists are protesting against d central govt suggestion to allow night traffic at Bandipur National Park. I promise that our govt will oppose d proposed flyover at the park. We are for conserving nature. Our commitment to protect Bandipur remains."

"We have already stopped the traffic movement on the National Highway between Karnataka and Kerala during the nights in Bandipur forests. And this decision has continued without any change in our stand. Hence, the environmentalists need not have any anxiety over the issue," he said.

The anti-elevated corridor protest in Bandipur is taking a serious turn and everyone opposed to it including the environmentalists and locals are protesting vigorously.

Insight into insect world

Given the common event of most people getting scared at the sight of scary-looking insects, such as a caterpillar or a cockroach, despite the great advantage of relative size between the two adversaries, one is prompted to briefly narrate the Biblical account of David and Goliath, incidentally conveying a lesson of courage, faith and overcoming what seems impossible. A great Philistine giant named Goliath, over nine feet tall, came to the front of the battle line, mocking the Israeli warriors. David, the youngest of Jesse's 12 sons, was sent by his father to visit the front lines and bring back battle news. Volunteering to fight the giant, armed with a sling and five stones, facing Goliath, armed with a sword and spear, noticed him laughing, David put a rock in his sling and swung at Goliath's head. The rock sank into the giant's forehead resulting in his fall. David then picked up Goliath's sword and used it to kill him by cutting off his head. The midget David and the giant Goliath symbolically present juxtaposing the tiny insect and the human beings. Insects are hexapod (six legs), invertebrates (without backbone) having segmental bodies, jointed legs and external skeletons (exoskeletons), according to entomologists. Their presence on earth, in numbers beyond count and variety makes a fascinating yet mind-boggling study.

Barring butterflies doing their exclusive act of pollination and the honeybees which whizz back and forth thousands of times tirelessly between the flowers and their hive to produce the highly valued honey, virtually all other insects are placed in the enemy camp by human beings. Cockroaches, bedbugs and termites and not to forget houseflies are at the forefront of the battle lines between the two-legged and the six-legged parties.

Cockroach, the nocturnal wanderer all over the dwellings of human beings, nibbling at bits and pieces of food left negligently in the kitchens, is said to have inhabited the planet Earth long before the emergence of primates and human beings. This ubiquitous insect species is thought to survive even after the earth gets devastated by nuclear warfare, if and when that happens. The other three major insects mentioned earlier in this column have outdone the feat of diminutive David in the Biblical story. But for their natural instinct to bite, causing irritation first and disease next, maybe, the insects would not have figured in the agenda of human beings with intent to get rid of them without trace, and certainly without any chance of success in the battle.

While insects are in a win-win situation in competition with all other species in general and humans in particular for food and survival, many tribal sections around the world have made insects themselves as source of food in the august company of birds. In this context, the expo organised last week in Hassan, Keeta Vismaya by University of Agricultural Sciences, Bengaluru and College of Horticulture, Mudigere, may contribute to perceive insects in better perspective than at present.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

The #MeToo movement has taken India by storm. On social and traditional media, women have come out with disturbing accounts of sexually predatory behaviour by various men, including famous ones. The accounts describe a spectrum of male behaviour, from the obviously criminal (rape, assault, molestation) to the less physical and more verbal and non-verbal manifestations that may not be obviously criminal but are creepy and obnoxious. These accounts have successfully blown away the veil of shame and taboo that hung over the issue of sexual harassment, which is good. — Abhinav Kumar in The Hindu.

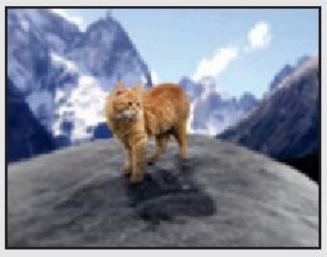
Man climbs mountain, finds cat on top

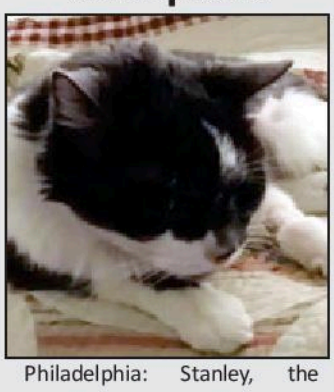


Warsaw: A mountain climber who recently scaled his country's highest peak was surprised to find a domestic cat waiting for him at the top.

Poland's Wojciech Jabczynski couldn't believe his eyes when he reached the top of the 2,500-meter-high Rysy Mountain and spotted a ginger cat nonchalantly licking its paws. No one knows exactly how the feline got to the mountain top, or why, but Jabczynski suspects it may have climbed up from a small tourist hut under the peak. Surprised by its presence there, the experienced climber took out his phone and took some pictures and recorded a video, just to make sure people believed him when he told the story.

Jabczynski said that the cat didn't appear to be concerned about the cold or afraid of humans and even approached him as he took out his lunch from the backpack, but apparently his cheese roll wasn't to appealing.

$19,000 spent on cat for kidney transplant



Philadelphia: Stanley, the 17-years-old and suffering from kidney failure was on the last of his nine lives. Luckily, his owner decided to gift him a tenth, by shelling out $19,000 for his kidney transplant.

Betsy Boyd and her husband Michael when presented with the chance to save their favorite cat's life in exchange for $19,000, they didn't hesitate.

After finding a suitable donor, Stanley the cat was ready to undergo the transplant. It was conducted by a team of vets at Ryan Veterinary Hospital in Philadelphia and everything went according to plan.

After a one-month confinement to a dog crate, Stanley was back to his own self again, playing with cat friends, going outside and spending time with Betsy.

VOICE OF THE READER

Refrain from excess tourism in Mysuru

Sir,

This is with reference to Tourism Director's statement on boosting tourism in Mysuru (SOM dated Oct. 27). Genuine Indian and international tourists love to see natural beauties as it is. They don't appreciate decoration, but basic facility. At present, the facility standard provided in popular tourist places is really poor. There is not a single decent toilet, right from City/ Suburban Bus Stand both for men and women up to popular tourist spots, even after paying hefty amount. There is no proper vehicle parking facility at all within city. First, it is required to be ascertained whether every tourist place has a definite tourism holding capacity. Mysureans/daily commuters/ students are afraid of travelling in city and tourist destinations on weekdays followed by long weekends, because of traffic chaos. These are to be given priority before expanding the visiting locations.

For boating, Varuna Lake and part of Karanji Lake are dedicated based on perennial water augmentation. Kukkarahalli and Lingambudhi Lakes are biodiversity rich locations, where interested tourists can walk and enjoy rich natural heritage; going in boat and disturbing the bird activity is not called for. Rush on Saturday and Sunday morning makes one to avoid these serene locations.

One should understand what natural heritage is and how to showcase it to tourists without degrading two century-old Lakes. Forest Department of previous government brought out a survey that pointed out degrading status of Lakes and Tanks in Mysuru District.

Existing Kukkarahalli and Lingambudhi Lakes are fine without any permanent buildings within, and enormous flora and fauna. Just opening the public toilet locks in these two locations and maintain it after usage is what is needed now, which has not happened so far after construction. Without understanding the study reports submitted, ground realities, local problems, and environmental issues, just bringing out an ill-devised master plan won't bring prosperity but misery to Mysuru City.

In Manali, Himachal Pradesh, locals are up in arms and repeated protests are being held against excess tourism, from the people who welcomed it ! Their vehicles' quota per day is fixed and only those many tourists are allowed. One cannot plan or conceive master plan to feed or support this mushrooming and ill-conceived growth.

143rd Birth Anniversary of Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel

PM Modi to dedicate world's tallest

'Statue of Unity' to the country tomorrow

New Delhi, Oct.30- Prime Minister Narendra Modi will dedicate the Statue of Unity, the world's tallest statue built in Gujarat, to the country on the birth anniversary of Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel on Oct. 31 (31.10.1875 - 15.12.1950).

It may be recalled here that iron was collected from all over the country for the construction of the 182-meters-tall Statue of Unity, a tribute to the Iron Man of India, which saw contributions from every village in its making.

This 'Statue of Unity' has been built in a record 42 months' time by the engineering and infrastructure major L&T on river Narmada in South Gujarat. The Rs. 3,000 crore project is funded for the most part by the Gujarat government, with minor contributions from the Centre and Central PSUs. The Statue of Unity, which is twice the size of the Statue of Liberty, has been built in a remote corner of Gujarat as a flagship project of Modi, who is to open it tomorrow. The statue is made up of 1,700 tonnes of bronze, 1,850 tonnes of bronze cladding, 70,000 metric tonnes of cement and 24,500 metric tonnes of steel.

Two high speed elevators inside can take tourists up to the statue's chest from where around 200 visitors can view the Narmada River and Sardar Sarovar Dam over it.

Standing tall at Sadhu Bet Island on the Narmada River in Gujarat, the Statue of Unity is designed to withstand winds, vibrations and earthquake. As many as 3,400 workers and 250 engineers worked round-the-clock for 42 months to make the dream project of PM Modi a reality.

It is said that Surya Kiran of the IAF will perform aerobatics in the sky over Patel's statue while spreading the colours of Tricolour in the sky. At the same time, a team of Jaguar fighter aircraft will fly over the statue and a team of MI-17 choppers will shower rose petals. Also, folk dance performances from Punjab, Assam, Mizoram and Gujarat have been planned when PM Modi will dedicate the 182-metre tall statue at Kevadia Colony to the country.

The Prime Minister will reach Ahmedabad today evening and stay overnight at Raj Bhavan. He will leave for Kevadia Colony in a special chopper tomorrow morning. The PM is expected to return to Delhi immediately after the event. Reports said that PM Modi will be welcomed by the bands of the Armed Forces, Gujarat Police, SRP, CRPF and BSF, and cultural troupes from 29 States and two Union Territories. He is also likely to address a public gathering.

Protest: Meanwhile, the headmen of 22 villages situated near the Sardar Sarovar Dam yesterday wrote an open letter to Prime Minister Narendra Modi stating that the villagers would not welcome him at the inauguration of the Statue, dubbed an 'engineering marvel' by makers Larsen & Toubro. Local tribal leaders have also announced a boycott of the function citing destruction of natural resources due to the Memorial.

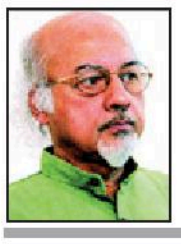
The State as a conspiracy?



Point of VIEW

T.J.S. George

As Chief Ministers go, K. Chandrasekhar Rao (KCR) is in a class of his own. He is known as an effective speaker and he is a good tactician. These were factors in the success of his mission to carve Telangana out of the original Andhra Pradesh. His decision to dissolve the assembly and go for an early test at the hustings was a smart move from his point of view. He is a man of ability and, therefore, if he wins, he can do much good for the country. To do that, however, he must pay attention to at least three areas where a new approach will be essential.

The first is the I-Me-Myself style in which he handles his party, the Telangana Rashtra Samiti. He is the boss of course, but flaunting bossdom reduces one's stature. He doesn't really consult any one in the party. Advancing the election was an example of this. No one knew what he was planning. Without even waiting for an election notification, he announced 105 candidates, to their surprise.

Some may interpret this as a strategic masterstroke in that he struck before the Opposition parties had time to realise what was happening. But the cost of such tactics is high. When all decisions are handed down from the Abode of Shiva as it were, discontent is inevitable across the board. Protests did rise this time from a few of his followers. Critics from other parties described him as "monarch, autocrat and despot."

The second area where KCR would benefit from a new approach is his habit of extending his religious beliefs into the public domain. As Chief Minister, he boycotted the State's administrative headquarters, where the Chief Minister's Office is situated, for reasons of vastu and improper designs in terms of setbacks and exit points. He built a new vastu-compliant home-cum-secretariat structure sprawling over one-lakh square feet of living space on a 9-acre estate costing Rs. 36 crore.

There is nothing wrong in having faith in vastu or fixing programmes as per astrological rules. But the State's treasury cannot be used to foot the expenses when a Chief Minister desires to "fulfil his vow" and present gold ornaments to various Gods. KCR travelled with his family in helicopters and chartered flights to make his offerings. In Tirumala alone the gold offered was worth Rs. 5 crore. He said, of course, that all expenses were met from his personal funds and bank loans.

The third area where KCR should have second thoughts is the language he uses. He recently described Rahul Gandhi as the country's "biggest buffoon." He called Chandrababu Naidu a lizard, said that Naidu had a "thief's look" and was neechaa neechamaina (meanest of the meanest) Chief Minister in the country. He said his party would "drag Sonia Gandhi to bazaar." And so on and on.

Such remarks do get cheap applause from street crowds. But KCR should ponder over the fact that his abuse of Sonia Gandhi met with disapproval from his own rank and file. He is a man who holds a

K. Chandrasekhar Rao

Constitutional position. In our Constitutional system, even enemies call one another "The honourable" inside the legislature. By observing basic rules of decency in public discourse, a leader will only enhance his stature. Likewise, abandonment of decency will only diminish him.

There is something almost visceral about KCR's hatred of Andhra Pradesh. He was once quoted as saying that he didn't want to be associated with anything that had an Andhra lineage. This is like one of a conjoined twins saying that he doesn't want to touch the other. Not all KCR's oratorical powers and temple offerings can nullify geography. In fact, he should be grateful for what he has already got. Nizam's Hyderabad comprised a piece of Maharashtra (Marathwada), a piece of Karnataka (still known as Hyderabad Karnataka) and a piece of Teluguland called Telangana. Only Telangana succeeded in becoming a State on its own. A wise leader will rejoice in this and collaborate with the conjoined twin.

The Scottish independence movement has been a powerful one for decades. There is a separate Scottish Government headed by a First Minister. But when a referendum took place four years ago, 55 percent of the population voted to remain part of the United Kingdom. Geography prevailed. KCR will become a greater leader if he realises that he has only two options — either to accept geographical reality and cooperate with his neighbours or prove that Tolstoy was right when he said: The State is a conspiracy.

We Teach Life...Sir!

Troupe: Sangama Kalavider Manipal.

Design-Direction: Prashanth Udyavara.

About the play: 'We Teach Life...Sir!' is an experimental theatre text about War. Rafeef Jia's poetry performance and 'Shades of anger,' Saadat Hasan Manto's 'Kingdom's end and other stories,' Iranian story 'The Frozen Rose,' Faiz Ahmed Faiz's 'Lullaby for a Palestinian Child' have been textualised. This text does not just deal with the aftermath of war or its sickness but also its necessity. Story-poem-imagery is the core of this production. Hence, this will be much more than oral.

Setubandhana

Troupe: Ninasam Tirugata, Heggodu; Writer & Director: K.V. Akshara.

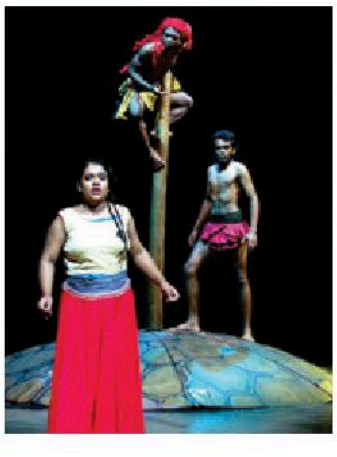
About the play: This is last part of the trilogy written by K.V. Akshara that began with 'Swayamvaraloka' and continued with 'Bharata Yaatre' and concluded with 'Setubandhana.' Because of a dam built against the river in Western Ghats, few impossible events occur in a village that has become an island due to the dam. A character from the first part tours the whole country and witnesses the contemporary events in the second part. 'Setubandhana' begins with Ramakrishna Jois returning back to his native after his country-wide journey.



Ascharya Choodamani

Troupe: Ninasam Tirugata, Heggodu; Writer: Sakthibhadran; Translator: B.R. Venkataramana Aitala; Direction: Joseph John.

About the play: Written in Sanskrit by Sakthibhadran around 8-9th century, this play compiles the whole 'Ramayana' excluding 'Balakanda.' The way it has been rewritten makes it unique by its structure and narrative form. For example, Ravana in this play, instead of visiting as a Monk, visits in the form of Rama when he abducts Sita. He also changes the appearance of Shurpanakha to look like Sita and places her in Sita's place to cover up Sita's abduction. The play continues with such magic spells. This play has been performed in Koodiyattam style of Kerala since many years. Now it has been redesigned to include modern elements.

BJP Yuva Morcha demands apology from Tharoor on scorpion remark

Strongly condemning former Union Minister and senior Congress leader Shashi Tharoor's remarks on Prime Minister Narendra Modi (comparing Modi to a scorpion sitting on a Shivalinga), over 50 members of the City BJP Yuva Morcha staged a demonstration at Gandhi Square in city this morning.

Pointing out that at a time when Congress President Rahul Gandhi is on a temple run, Tharoor has been making remarks against the PM which are in bad taste and hurting the sentiments of Hindus, the protestors urged Tharoor to stop making such cheap remarks.

Yuva Morcha President Gokul Govardhan, office-bearers B. Sampath, B. Somashekar, Corporator Satish and others took part in the protest.

Sena Pade to launch Kannada name-board campaign

In another protest, more than 30 activists of Karnataka Sena Pade staged a demonstration in front of Gandhiji's bust opposite the City Law Courts Complex demanding the State government to issue an order making it mandatory for all hotels, restaurants, commercial establishments, companies and industries to have Kannada name-boards.

Claiming that Kannada nameboards had become a rarity in the State, especially in big cities and towns, the protestors urged the government to issue a circular warning that the licenses of establishments which do not have Kannada name-boards would be cancelled.

They also said that they would soon launch Kannada nameboard campaign across the State.

Sena Pade District President Tejesh Lokesh Gowda and others took part in the demo.

CNC to hold New Delhi Chalo on Nov.1

Codava National Council (CNC) President N.U. Nachappa (centre) addressing a press conference at the Patrakartara Bhavan in city this morning as other members look on.

Mysuru, Oct.30 (RKB&NNN)- Codava National Council (CNC) has decided to hold a peaceful Satyagraha on Nov. 1 at Jantar Mantar in New Delhi to highlight the demand for Codava Quest for autonomy and to express opposition to celebrations of Karnataka Rajyotsava Day, said CNC President N.U. Nachappa.

Addressing a press conference at the Patrakartara Bhavan here this morning, he said that every member of the Codava tribe considers Nov.1, the State Reorganisation Day, as incursion day, which is one of the blackest days in Kodagu history.

Around 50 volunteers hailing from different parts of Kodagu, clad in traditional costume, will participate in the Satyagraha at New Delhi on Nov.1, he said.

"On the very next day (Nov.2) we will hold a peaceful demonstration in the vicinity of French Embassy, Chanakyapuri, New Delhi. This is in order to express our sufferings and trauma and to insist the French government to apologise to the Kodava tribe for the act of their predecessors in office, French East India Company, which committed heinous crime against Kodava tribe colluding with Tipu Sultan at Devatti Parambu on Dec.12, 1785, where thousands of innocent Kodavas were mercilessly massacred," he said. "Karnataka is treating Kodava land as its internal colony and its native people as second class citizens. It has been proved beyond doubt that our land, lifeline river Cauvery, language, cultural heritage, martial human resources, geo-political aspirations and our historical continuity, nothing is safe in these people's hand," he alleged.

"We demand, pressurise and request the Centre to accord geo-political autonomy for durable and permanent political solution to the long-standing unrest of Kodavas. Hence proper constitutional mechanism has to be exercised by the Union government in the interest of justice and equity," he said.

Kaliyanda Prakash, Katamaniyanda Umesh, Ariyanda Girish and Apparanda Poovanna were present at the press meet.

The permission for traffic movement in the Bandipur National Park during night times has irked the forest officials and environmentalists. Since 15 years the night ban had been imposed for vehicles moving from Karnataka to Kerala and Tamil Nadu.

The State government had imposed this ban following illegal wildlife activities and to protect the water bodies.

The environmentalists are concerned that the flyovers which are dotting the high-rise skyline in Bengaluru would also invade the Bandipur National Park.

On July 21, the Central government had written to the State government to give its approval for a 35-km flyover on the Highway inside the Bandipur National Park.

Meanwhile, the protest against the proposed elevated corridor project is gaining momentum with even foreigners joining hands.

People from Germany, Italy, France, Sweden and Turkey have been lending their support by signing petitions. This is even before the like-minded group of activists and citizens under the banner 'Save Bandipur' are planning a protest in Bengaluru on Nov.10.

The Mahatma's Sculptures

taking shape at Gandhi Bhavan in Manasagangothri

By M.T. Yogesh Kumar

- Over 25 cement models being sculpted
- Each 6 ft to 8 ft in height in various poses
- Inauguration on Nov.6

Sculptors working on 'Gyarah Murti' statue at Gandhi Bhavan premises in Manasagangothri. Mysuru has a similar Dandi March statue commemorating the Salt March of 1930, featuring Gandhiji and his followers in a peaceful protest, at Freedom Fighters Park in Subbarayanakere.

The replica of the famous Sabarmati Ashram in Ahmedabad was recreated at Gandhi Bhavan in the picturesque Manasagangothri campus as part of the centenary celebrations of the University of Mysore in 2017.

Going forward and adding to the lustre will be nearly 25 sculptures of the Mahatma in various poses that are coming up in the sylvan surroundings of Gandhi Bhavan.

Realising how important it is to spread the message of Gandhiji, the Father of the Nation, the Gandhi Bhavan authorities came with the idea of the workshop by well-known and young sculptors to sculpt his figures. The aim is also to introduce his thoughts and actions to the future generation as Gandhiji will always remain relevant to the nation. The work on all 25 sculptures will be completed by Nov.5.

Workshop in progress

The idea of putting up Gandhiji's sculptures took shape during the centenary celebrations when the then Gandhi Bhavan Director Dr. S. Shivarajappa and Executive Engineer H. Kishore Chandra visited the Sabarmati Ashram in Ahmedabad to study its plan and layout.

In this background, a workshop has been jointly organised by Kannada and Culture Department, Karnataka Shilpakala Academy, Gandhi Bhavan and Rangayana. The 15-day workshop began on Oct.22.

In all, there are 35 sculptors including 19 senior sculptors and 16 junior ones who are participating in the workshop. The sculptors are involved in chiselling various forms of Gandhiji since the last one week and in the next three days they will be reaching the final stages of completion.

Gandhiji in various poses

The 25 sculptures are being sculpted using different materials like cement, iron and bricks. First the platforms for all statues are being built along with hooks on all four sides. This will help in shifting the sculptures easily.

Some of the designs include Gandhiji working on the Charaka, walking holding a walking stick, Gandhiji in a meditative pose, walking with a lamp and a child and the famous Dandi March.

Gandhi with Tagore

The other major attraction is Gandhiji sitting along with Nobel Laureate and National Poet Rabindranath Tagore. Mysuru sculptors Srinath R. Chitragar and Bhaskar are the ones who are sculpting both these figures.

They are using the famous photograph of the two giants of history of the 20th century sitting on two chairs separately during their first meeting at Shantiniketan on March 6, 1915. Tagore was the first to refer to Gandhiji as "Mahatma" or "Great Soul." In this model, it looks like Tagore is holding a book and reading, while Gandhiji is quietly observing him. This is the first time such a sculpture is being chiselled.

Stage for unearthing talents

Sculpture Workshop Director K.K. Narayan Rao, who is a Rajyotsava awardee, speaking to Star of Mysore said, "This workshop is an ideal ground for unearthing the talents of the sculptors. The sculptors have arrived from different parts of the State. Everyone is involved in sculpting beautiful figures. The national-level sculptors are also participating. The senior and junior sculptors including the ones who have worked on Rock Garden in Haveri District are working since the past one week."

Inauguration on Nov.6

Gandhi Bhavan's Dr. Umesh, speaking about the sculptures, said that keeping in mind the future generation and the present day youth, the sculptures are being made about the life and times of the Mahatma. Each will be about six to ten feet in height.

One of the most interesting sculptures apart from that of Gandhi and Tagore is the 'Gyarah Murti' statue of the Dandi March where Gandhiji is leading 10 common people. This iconic sculpture includes a woman with her head covered following close after Gandhiji, a cluster of three men including a turbaned Sikh visibly of high pedigree, a Hindu scholar with a topi and a Muslim peasant; a Hindu man wearing a turban as a mark of intellectual distinction, with a regular religious mark etched on his forehead; an impoverished peasant looking far ahead, bearing no marks of class, caste or religion on his body; a Christian priest; another woman in a skirt and a young boy egging on a weary old man to travel farther.

On Nov.6, District in-charge and Higher Education Minister G.T. Devegowda will inaugurate the sculptures. They will be placed amidst trees to blend neatly into the environment, he said.

H.S. Doreswamy questions PM Modi over farmer distress

Mysuru Oct.30 (PM&DM)- Accusing Prime Minister Modi of waiving off corporate loans amounting to thousands of crores of rupees, freedom fighter H.S. Doreswamy has questioned the Prime Minister for failing to address agrarian issues that has been haunting the country.

He was speaking after inaugurating a workshop titled 'Hallige Hogona Banni' (Come, let's go to village) organised by Gandhi Vichar Parishad at its premises in Srirampura here on Sunday.

Alleging that the Union Government was treating farmers as second-class citizens, Doreswamy questioned why the Union Government has turned a blind eye to agrarian distress, with farmers finding it difficult to make a reasonable living.

Maintaining that farm loan waiver alone would not solve agrarian distress, he said that what needed now was programmes aimed at economic stability and a sustained livelihood for rural people. Noting that economic empowerment was the best way for preventing rural migration, Doreswamy underlined the need for Governments to come up with honest efforts to make rural life much better.

Recalling history wherein East India Company, which came to India for trade, later ruled the Country, he said that Mahatma Gandhi took to the streets to establish 'Swarajya' while giving a call to boycott foreign goods. But the situation has completely changed now, with Governments welcoming MNC companies with open arms and rolling out red carpets. Taking strong exception to tax exemption to companies, he warned that such actions would only push the country to economic disaster.

Calling for distribution of Government lands to farmers, he stressed on the need for a ceiling on land holdings.

Bemoaning that farmer organisations had failed to exert pressure on Governments over distribution of agricultural lands, Doreswamy said that a Committee has been formed to allocate lands to farmers and the Committee is working on allotting two acres of land to every farmer.

He called upon all farmer organisations to join hands with the Committee on this endeavour.

Raichur University Special Officer Prof. Muzaffar Assadi, in his address, said that Mahatma Gandhi is now seen only on currency notes.

Emphasising on the need for practising Gandhian ideals such as self-administration, non-violence, sustainable living, peace and brotherhood, etc., Prof. Assadi said that realising Gandhiji's dreams on rural development was the need of the hour.

Gandhi Vichar Parishad President P. Mallesh and others were present.

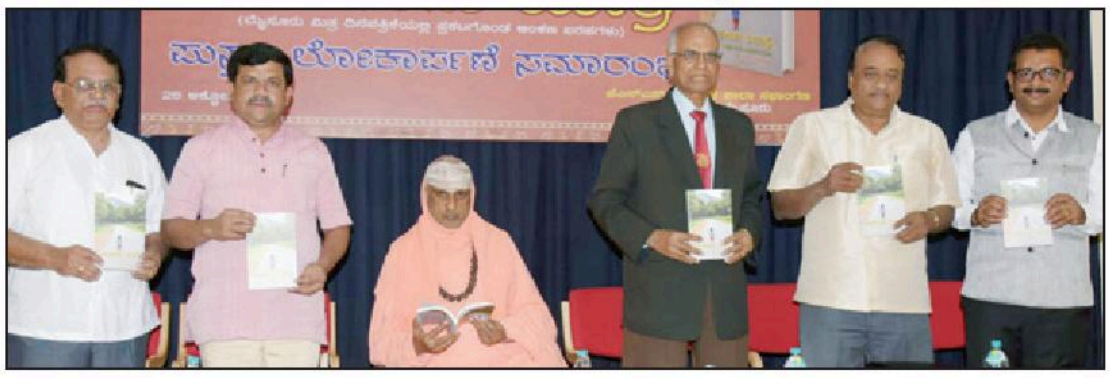
Leftist and Rightist ideologies harmful to society: Writer



Mysuru, Oct.30 (SBD&DM)- Maintaining that both Leftist and Rightist ideologies were harmful to the society, veteran writer Maleyur Guruswamy has said that columnists should be simple, clear and honest in their presentation. He was speaking at a programme organised by Ananya Pustakagalu Publications for the release of writer G.L. Tripurantaka's work titled 'Badukondu Yatre,' a collection of his articles published in SOM's sister concern Mysooru Mithra, at JSS High School in Saraswathipuram on Sunday.

Quoting English author George Orwell that articles should be issue focussed, clear and honest, Guruswamy said Tripurantaka's articles had everything what Orwell had said about a good article.

Pointing out that Tripurantaka's articles was easily understood by every reader, he said that those who worshipped Chamundeshwari were Rightists, while those who celebrate Mahisha Dasara were Leftists.

While Rightists were attracted by arts and culture, Leftists were against idol worship, he said that both the two ideologies were not fit to the society.

Noting that article writing in Kannada has a long history, he opined that article writing in newspapers became famous with writers such as Ha. Ma. Nayak, B.V. Vykuntaraju, Chandrasekhar Patil and Patil Puttappa penning down their articles.

Bemoaning that Rightist and Leftist articles are beginning to gain prominence these days, he said that there has been a silver lining with many noted writers writing articles on religion, politics, science and other social and scientific issues.

Mysuru District Journalists Association (MDJA) President C.K. Mahendra who spoke after releasing the book, said that newspapers have overcome the onslaught of social media, with the number of readers growing by the day.

Pointing out that Mysuru had become a hub of book releases, with many good works being published regularly, he said that he was happy to release Tripurantaka's work containing his published articles, which were written in keeping with his (Tripurantaka) conscience.

Suttur Mutt Seer Sri Shivaratri Deshikendra Swamiji graced the occasion.

JSS Mahavidyapeetha Director (Rural Development) Dr. M. Mahadevappa presided. Writer G.L. Tripurantaka, publisher D.N. Lokappa and others were present during the programme.

Day-long seminar on folklore practices held in city

Globalisation has helped poor countries in the world to emerge as economic powerhouses

Writer Moggalli Ganesh is seen addressing the gathering at a day-long seminar at Manasagangothri campus in city recently as Prof. M.N. Talawar, Director of Kuvempu Institute of Kannada Studies, Dr. M. Nanjaiah Honganur, Head of the Department of Folklore Studies and Researcher Kailash Murthy look on.

Mysuru, Oct. 30- Writer Moggalli Ganesh has called upon people, researchers to have a critical bent of mind on folklore practises instead of liberal mindset that practised from time in the country. He was speaking at the day-long seminar on the topic 'Folklore, Globalisation; Cultural Upheavals,' organised by Kuvempu Institute of Kannada Studies (KIKS), University of Mysore (UoM) at Manasagangothri campus in city recently.

He felt that a lot of folklore practises mindlessly plasticised just because it passed on from generation to generation from our ancestors. Many folklore practises are inhumane, blindly followed leading to social and economical problems in the country.

He said that Americans widely propagated the concept of globalisation across the globe with a main intention of integrating, encouraging the dialogues and interaction among different cultures of the world.

Defending that people across the country had benefited a lot after the advent of globalisation, he said that people especially the downtrodden, other lowest classes were the major beneficiaries of economic liberalisation era in India.

Boon to poor countries

Globalisation had appeared as a boon to several poor countries of the world leading to the path of economic and social development. Though many poor countries of the world had was blessed with abundant natural resources, they were finding it difficult to convert these natural resources into raw materials for the benefit because of lack of technology. However, the free trade movement and globalisation revolutionised many poor countries to emerge as technological and economical power houses today, Writer Moggalli Ganesh said.

'Curative Perspective is must'

People should have a look on the concept of globalisation on a curative perspective instead of attributing the globalisation was responsible for all cultural upheavals, he said and added that people should embrace folklore practises that benefit the mankind after shunning the blind practises that harm people.

KIKS Director Prof. N.M. Talawar, Head of the Department of Folklore Studies Dr. M. Nanjaiah Honganur, Researcher Kailash Murthy and others were present.

WORD OF THE DAY

Nary

Pronunciation: NAIR-ee
Meaning: Not any: not one. Informal or dialect form of not.

Origin: Nary, most often used in the phrase "nary a" to mean "not a single," is an 18th-century alteration of the adjectival phrase "ne'er a," in which ne'er is a contraction of never. That contraction dates to the 13th century, and the word it abbreviates is even older: never can be traced back to Old English nǽfre, a combination of ne ("not" or "no") and ǽfre ("ever"). Old English ne also combined with ā ("always") to give us nā, the Old English ancestor of our no. Ā, from the Latin aevum ("age" or "lifetime") and Greek aiōn ("age"), is related to the English adverb aye, meaning "always, continually, or ever." This aye (pronounced to rhyme with say) is unrelated to the more familiar aye (pronounced to rhyme with sigh) used as a synonym of yes.
Example: There was nary a dry eye in the place.

THE ODD WORD

Labyrinthine

Twisting and turning or intricate and confusing.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Call a Spade a Spade

Meaning: To say something the way it is; not to dress the truth up and speak in a straight-forward manner.

Origin: The phrase is said to have originated from the slang that was used for African-Americans, which is 'spade'. This was used in a derogatory manner in the United States and was popular in the early 20th century. The first known publication of this term precisely is from John Trapp's work in 1647 where he claims that God's people would call a spade a spade and a niggard a niggard. The term niggard here does not necessarily refer to African-Americans but could be an indication of the misers at the time.
Example: That dress made her look fat, let's call a spade a spade before she goes out wearing it and embarrasses herself.
